What you don't know can hurt you!

Thousands of travelers become ill each year, and many of them are children. Common travel diseases like malaria, typhoid fever, and hepatitis are preventable if you plan ahead. Additionally, travel needs, health issues and risks for children are different than adults. Some medications, dosages, and vaccines commonly recommended for travel may not be appropriate for children or teenagers.

TravelKids services

A visit to TravelKids includes customized recommendations to meet your child's needs and travel plans.

We also provide the following preventive services:

- Review of local outbreaks
- Food and water counseling
- Malaria and insect avoidance
- Community service project risk avoidance
- Yellow Fever Immunization
- International Vaccination Certificate
- Typhoid Fever Immunization
- Japanese Encephalitis Immunization
- Rabies pre-travel Immunization

In addition, a report of all services and vaccines provided to your child is sent to your doctor so that your child's records are kept up-to-date.

TravelKids: Specialists for kids

Care at TravelKids is provided by our staff of Pediatric Infectious Disease physicians. Their expertise enables them to provide the best and most current advice for your child. And you can rest assured, if your child does get sick during your trip, our experts can diagnose and treat a variety of infections associated with travel.
